

Code of Ethics of the FTTH Council Europe

As members, Board members, Committee Chairs, team members and contractors of the FTTH Council Europe, we have responsibility to our Association, colleagues, and partners.

We will make every effort to uphold the following Code of Ethics:

To maintain the highest standards of business conduct by using only legal and ethical means in all business activity;

To be fair and respectful to fellow members, team members, our partners and any other business relationships;

To observe the highest level of integrity when conducting business on behalf of our Association, representing the interest of the group over our own personal interest.

To support and promote the Association including its Mission Statement and Strategy.

To recognise and respect both trademark and intellectual property rights of fellow members, exhibitors at the events of the Association and of any other company or organisation acquainted with the Association.

To support and abide by the decisions of the Association - taken by the Executive Board or the General Assembly - in promoting and enforcing this code of ethics. The Executive Board or the General Assembly may decide to take corrective action to uphold the spirit and rules of this Code of Ethics and may ultimately suspend or terminate the membership of members, who repeatedly fail to comply with the standards enshrined in this Code of Ethics.

Adopted at the General Assembly of 4-5 May 2017
